Chocolate Economics: A Tasty Curriculum Unit for Grades K-8

Whet your appetite on this innovate curriculum unit designed to sweeten your economics lessons. Creative activities are designed to stimulate young students while offering them opportunities for hands-on learning. Discussions are educator friendly. Topics include: resources, scarcity, opportunity cost, trade/exchange, producers, consumers, etc. Children’s literature is incorporated. 109 pages. $19.95

Around the World the ECON Way (Grades K-6)

Economics, geography, and children’s literature are combined in the dynamic unit. Have your students “Book a Trip Around the World” as hands-on activities help students to understand that people all over the world are buyers and sellers, that resources are combined to produce goods and services, that people have been trading to get the things they want for centuries. Students track their journey in their special student passport. Unit includes thorough overview of economics. 237 pages. $24.95

The Buck Starts Here!

Are you creditworthy, or are you like Matilda the Moocher? Would you keep your money in a pouch like Saruni, who lives in an African village? If you wanted to buy a pizza in France, what would it cost? Follow the money through this curriculum unit aimed at teaching students the importance of understanding money. Topics include identifying money, history of money, trade and exchange, circulation of money, saving, budgeting, banking, and credit. 179 pages, $24.95
