Longwood University / Hampden Sydney College Psychology Research Symposium

The annual Longwood University / Hampden-Sydney College Psychology Research Symposium was held Friday, April 22nd, 2006 in the Lankford Student Union at Longwood University. The symposium served as a showcase for the senior research projects of psychology majors from both schools. Awards for the best poster presentation were given to students from each school. The winners were:

Longwood University: Jessica Titmus & Shan'i Mason

Hampden-Sydney College: Nathaniel Phillips

Psychology Club News

The Psychology Club has an exciting year planned! They're planning to go to the Eastern Psychological Association conference in March, and they'll be doing regular meetings and movie nights this semester. Their meeting schedule will be posted on the board near Dr. Bjornsen's office.

Study Abroad Opportunity in Spain

Dr. Bjornsen is planning a study abroad class for next summer. The class will spend 18 full days in the south and east of Spain, from Seville to Barcelona. Students will meet with professors and students in Spain and will learn about the psychological characteristics of the Spanish people. The theme of the course is the Passions of Spain: Food, Love, Bullfighting, and Flamenco Dancing. The current cost estimate is $2,500.00 plus tuition for a 3-credit summer course. See Dr. Bjornsen for more details.
