Study Abroad Opportunity in Spain

Dr. Bjornsen is planning a study abroad class in Spain for the summer. The theme of the course is, The Passions of Spain: Food, Love, Bullfighting, and Flamenco Dancing. The current cost estimate is $2,500.00 plus tuition for a 3-credit summer course. See Dr. Bjornsen for more details.

“Student Achievement Awards” for Psychology Students

The faculty members of the department like to recognize students each year who have set themselves apart in some way that is worthy of special merit and recognition. This award is intended to acknowledge students who have not only achieved a level of academic success, but who have also achieved in other ways, such as providing service to the university or the local community, attending professional conferences, or assisting faculty members with research projects. In sum, there are many ways that students can “achieve” in our program, and we want to recognize all forms of such achievement. Students are nominated by faculty members and selected by a vote among the faculty.

This year, Andrea Godwin, Andrew Mendolia, and Laura Wire will receive a “Student Achievement Award.”

Andrea Godwin: Andrea has been a very active member of the Psychology Club, and served as a Longwood Seminar peer mentor. She is also currently working on two research projects with Dr. Buchert.

Andrew Mendolia: Andrew was one of the primary researchers on a project supervised by Dr. Bjornsen that was presented in a poster at the Eastern Psychological Society conference last spring. Andrew has also attended the Carolinas Psychology Conference, and is currently beginning work on a research project in aviation psychology.

Laura Wire: Laura recently conducted a research project investigating language development in 2 & 3 year old children. She collected her data from children at local day care facilities. She is currently assisting Dr. Buchert with additional research on language development.

Psychology Club News

Members of the Psych Club will be attending the Eastern Psychological Association conference in Philadelphia in March.

New Members of Psi Chi, the Psychology Honorary Society

During the fall semester, the Longwood chapter of Psi Chi added 11 new members.

Aynsley Birkner, Patrick McArdle, Joel Rowe, Darian Batten, Richard Woody, Camy Davis. Front: Laura Wire, Donika Martin, Valerie Baker, Jacklyn Jones, Vanessa Congdon.

Student-Faculty Research Collaboration

Ben Lord and Dr. Bjornsen have recently collaborated on a research study of adolescent development. Results of the study have been accepted for presentation at the upcoming EPA convention and are currently under review for presentation at the 2007 meeting of the European Society for Developmental Psychology.

Longwood University / Hampden Sydney College Psychology Research Symposium

The annual Longwood University / Hampden-Sydney College Psychology Research Symposium will be held Friday, April 27th, 2007. The symposium will serve as a showcase for the senior research projects of psychology majors from both schools. All students will present a poster of their senior research project, and awards for the best poster will be given to a student from each school. Longwood students will display the research projects they conducted for the spring semester Senior Seminar course (PSYC 461).
