

News From The Center

Greetings from the Director

Wow—it is hard to believe that the semester is almost over. Thank you for sharing your students with us for the past four months! I know that they are looking forward to having a short break. Please note a small change in our calendar: students may return to campus after 9 a.m. on January 14 and classes start at 8 a.m. on January 17.

Our academic coaching ends this week, but the Writing Lab will maintain limited hours. The link to the fall exam schedule is below under Important Dates. Rebecca Sturgill

More Details

Fall Issue #2, 2006

“Never regard study as a duty but as the enviable opportunity to learn.”
Albert Einstein

Conversation Starters

“What courses have you registered for?”

“How are you studying for exams?”

“When are your exams?”

“What do you expect your grades to be?”

Important Upcoming Dates

12/1—Date academic coaching stops!

12/8 – Last day of classes.

12/11—12/15 – FINAL EXAMS!! An exam schedule may be found at:

http://www.longwood.edu/registrar/schedule_spring_fall/examination_schedule_fall_2006.htm

More Details

“Do not worry about your problems with mathematics, I assure you mine are far greater.”
Albert Einstein

Notes from the Career Center

From Maureen Hains with notes from Rebecca

“I never realized how important internships and summer jobs were until I actually began searching for that perfect job.” Now is the time to encourage your student to work on finding a summer internship or job that could lead to a career after college.

“It is never too early to start looking, and Longwood has the tools to get you started. LancerTrak is specifically geared to the college student. The Career Center, located in the Lancaster building, can also help you search, prepare, and get the job.” They have a wonderful website to help:
<http://www.longwood.edu/career/students/index.htm>

There will also be a two day Job Fair in the Student Union on February 13 and 14, 2007. The first day will be for-profit organizations, and day two will be non-profits, government, and summer jobs. Now is the time to make plans for the summer! Don't be late!