

Study Abroad
Applications Now Available

Greece & Turkey

"Clash of Civilizations?"

with Dr. Steven Isaac

◆◆ Highlights ◆◆

- ◆ The Acropolis of Athens
- ◆ Ancient Mycenae and Troy
- ◆ The Oracle at Delphi
- ◆ Archaeological Treasures at Museums across both countries
- ◆ New Testament sites like Corinth, Ephesus, Philippi
- ◆ Battlefields of Thermopylae & Gallipoli
- ◆ Byzantine Achievements, like the Hagia Sophia, or the Hanging Monasteries of Meteora
- ◆ Holy Sites of Christianity & Islam
- ◆ The Mosques of Istanbul
- ◆ The Ancient Agora
- ◆ Contemporary Life, Culture and Politics
- ◆ Visit to the Orthodox Patriarch

Since Antiquity, observers and participants have drawn lines of conflict between the cultures that meet around the Aegean Sea. Homer and Herodotus then, Edward Said and Samuel Huntington now. By examining the legacies of cultures long gone and their current day heirs, this course will examine how ideas of conflict have been built, and whether such models really hold up in the actual interplay of humans and their societies.

◆◆ Information ◆◆

3-credit Course

Dates: 18 May–3 June 2008 (right after Graduation)

Open to all Longwood students and majors

Application Deadline: 5 November 2007

Deposit ($500) Deadlines: 10 December 2007 / 27 January 2008

Costs: We estimate a rough figure of $3920, but this number is subject to change until further notice. This figure will include transportation to/from Europe and within both countries, all lodgings, entrance fees and roughly half the meals. It does not, however, include the tuition and fees which the University will charge separately.

Interested? Contact Prof. Isaac at isaacsw@longwood.edu or look for the Longwood Facebook Group "Greece and Turkey: May 2008"